2011 isn't turning out the way Bob Doll expected. The chief stock strategist at asset manager BlackRock started the year predicting the stock market would have a double-digit return for the third year in a row. But those predictions were squashed by fears of a financial crisis in Europe, the earthquake in Japan and the debt ceiling showdown in Congress. As of Thursday, the Standard and Poor's 500 index was down 7.7 percent for the year. Doll talked recently with The Associated Press about the market.

What will it take for the stock market to end the year with a gain?

I wish I knew the answer. Right now, it's all about Europe. Everything else is a sideshow. The answers (for Europe's debt problems) are going to depend on policy makers. If there's a smooth ending, we avoid a recession. If it's bumpier, then it throws us back into one.

Do you think that a recession is likely?

As a betting man – which I am I think chances are that we'll muddle through and continue to grow slowly. If we do have a recession it would be mild. The cyclical parts of the economy that typically give us deep recessions I'm thinking about housing and autos - have never really recovered from the last one

We'll have to have a major increase in (investors') confidence, and that will only come if we have some long-term policies that will put in place (new infrastructure like roads and factories) and incentives to hire workers.

Do you think President Obama and the Republicancontrolled House of Representatives can accomplish that?

In terms of next year's election, it would be great to see somebody run for president, or the incumbent, come up with a clear plan and get a significant mandate. But nobody is expecting that.

What should an investor do? If you have a decent time horizon and are dollar-cost averaging, now is a great time to be buying.
