

Money&Markets EXTRA

For the week ending Saturday, Mar. 18, 2023

MONEY MATTERS-MEDICARE MEDICAL MARIJUANA

When will Medicare cover medical marijuana?

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Justice, SEC probing collapse of Silicon Valley Bank; first major railroad merger in 2 decades will go forward; Biden approves oil project in Alaska, draws rebukes

QUICK FIX

As the Federal Reserve raises interest rates, consider saving at a credit union

TECH TAKE

The costliest internet crime reported by Americans has long been what are called business email compromise scams, where a crook tricks an unwitting employee into transferring funds. Last year, that all changed.

SMALL BUSINESS MONITOR

Small businesses are facing persistent challenges but there are some glimmers of hope that times are getting better, according to a new survey by the Federal Reserve.

CENTERPIECE

Novavax, a once high-flying biotechnology company boosted by the race for a COVID-19 vaccine, might have to shut down.

MARKET PULSE

Do-not-eat listing draws lawsuit from Maine lobster industry; Oprah's 100th book club pick; a federal jury rules that Constellation Brands can still sell Corona and Modelo hard seltzers in the U.S.

OFF THE CHARTS-BETTER BONDS

After last year's stunning failure, bonds show up for safety

INSIDER Q&A-ORSTED

One of Europe's most fossil fuel-intensive energy companies transformed itself in little more than a decade by doubling down on offshore wind. CEO Mads Nipper spoke about offshore wind, green hydrogen and the company's ambitions.

$1,000 DERBY

If you invested $1,000 at the start of this year in various types of stocks, bonds and commodities, how much would you have now?

For questions about Money & Markets Extra, contact Seth Sutel (917-226-4405). For technical support: Todd Balog (816-654-1096). After 6 p.m., contact the AP Business News desk (800-845-8450, ext. 1680) for questions on modules; 1-800-3AP-STOX for technical support and 212-621-1905 for graphics help.